Hon. Louis D. Brandeis,
Florence Courts,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Justice Brandeis:

Mrs. Hankin and I have been trying in vain to find appropriate words in which to express our gratitude for your photograph and the kind words you inscribed thereon.

We were going to thank you for it in person, but the opportunity did not present itself.

Many a time we have felt the urge to write you how we were moved by your opinions, but were dissuaded by the thought that we might be overstepping the bounds of propriety. Today, after hearing your dissenting opinion in New State Ice Company vs. Liebman, we cannot resist telling you how we were spellbound by your delivery and moved by the forcefulness of your ideas. The future undoubtedly will prove that "individual enterprise" is not the summum bonum to which public welfare must always be sacrificed.

Thanking you again for your kindness,

Very respectfully yours,

Gregory Hankin
