Dear Art:

I have your letter of February 10. As to your two questions, the answers are simple. First, I certainly do mind resigning and have no intention of doing so. Secondly, my great weakness is to see a lot of you and your clients, particularly you. I hope that I will not find it necessary to subpoena your clients in order to see you.

I appreciate very much your advising me that you are on the prescription list. You can imagine how embarrassed I am and have been because of that fact.

Happy New Deal to you, you big plutocrat!

Yours faithfully,
