Re: TMT

Dear Irma:

Enclosed are the transcribed notes of my investigation at Wolff's office yesterday, that I reported to you last night.

Wolff's stockholder list or lists is in the process of being updated all the time. There are three computer printouts representing various stages of updating, plus about five bound folders of spreadsheets, with hieroglyphics and cross-references on the several printouts.

Bukaty, Irwin Mason, Irma Mason and Malcolm Mason are all shown as stockholders of record, with their current addresses.

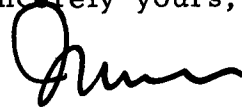

Attempt to trace down information with respect to the first few names on List A took us through so many cross-references that I abandoned it when Wolff pointed out that the September 2 deadline is only for voting purposes, that 95% of the vote so far is in favor of the plan, that people who prove up their stockholder claims after September 2 will be entitled to participate if they file within as much as five years, and that by a fairly short date (October 15, I think) the Trustee will have to make a report on what he has done toward locating stockholders and correcting the stockholder lists, and what he proposes to do. By then this process of updating the lists, says Wolff, should be substantially completed. Hence I do not think it is worth our while to try to anticipate the list that will be reported then.

Of the half dozen or so names on your List A, that Wolff and I checked through the several printout lists, most appeared to be situations where, on the SEC's recommendation, no follow-up letter was sent after a letter to a prior address was returned undelivered.

Enclosed is the current accumulation of stockholder letters, only only four of them received in more than a month.

Sincerely yours,

Enclosures

P. S. Your friend, Mrs. Brisdell (phonetically), telephoned and came to the office. I gave her red-carpet treatment, asked her to check with her New York attorney on her assumption that shares in the name of her late husband came to her some ten years ago out of her husband's estate, and I expect to hear from her again shortly.

There are Approximately 800,000 shares outstanding according to the company books. These ^current figures amount to over 90% of the claims filed and allowed, or claims which will be allowed, ~~having been filed~~ which is, of course, well in excess of the minimum 50% needed.
